progressplus improves business efficiency for ritherdon and co.

Ritherdon and Company was founded over 100 years ago and for half of this time has been operating out of the Lancashire town of Darwen, supplying quality sheet metal work both locally and nationwide.

The company specialises in manufacturing enclosures and control panel metal-work, particularly for the electricity distribution industry, but also numbers many other nationally recognised names among its customers.

It is now the largest supplier of steel domestic meter boxes and meter box refurbishment units to the UK's regional electricity companies as well as supplying control and regulator boxes to many other electrical and electronic outlets.

The company had determined that their existing production control software needed to be replaced and after evaluating several different packages they selected ProgressPlus.

"We selected ProgressPlus as we could see the potential for accessing information much quicker than the previous system allowed," said Brian Derbyshire, general manager at Ritherdon. "ProgressPlus is very intuitive and easy to use and lets users move between different areas of the system very quickly with just one or two mouse clicks."

"We were able to achieve immediate benefits from ProgressPlus as our staff were able to use ProgressPlus immediately and without the need for lengthy training. Everybody in the company now has more time to do other things rather than getting tied down with administration tasks because of the way information can be quickly found in ProgressPlus."

"For example, ProgressPlus Today brings all the various parts of day-to-day business activity into a single screen saving us time and effort in collating information we need to run the business more effectively."

"Overall ProgressPlus has improved our efficiency and enabled us to deal with our customers more effectively."
